game on a silver plate when in the third from the outfield. The decision took all the life out of the Phillies, and all through the game the crowd hooted the umpire. The score:

to first, but was retired on the double play on Scheller's fly to third. Keane singled, but Morgan retired the side on long fly to right.For Navy, Stiles drew a pass, Thebault hit to right, advancing Stiles to second. Needham was hit, pitcher to first. Goldthwaite was hit by Drennon, filling the bases. Spofford beat out grounder and Thebault caught. Thebault fled out to White, ending the inning.

Hart Scored.

In the third Hart singled. Martell fouled out to first. Hart stole second and scored on White's double. Burns fled out to center. Smith fanned.In their half of the third Navy failed to connect, leaving score 5 to 2 in favor of Georgetown.In Navy's half Symington singled and was followed by Needham with a clean hit. By a little hide and seek between the bases Symington and Needham worked a double steal. Goldthwaite skied to center, but Symington beat the ball home, adding another score to Navy's three. On Spofford's line drive to Smith Needham was doubled at second.In Georgetown's half of the seventh Spofford, captain and centerfielder of the Navy team, made a beautiful running catch of Morgan's drive, which looked good for three bases.Navy, in her half of the seventh in answer to the great cry of the Middlesex, scored from a stolen base—Goldthwaite after a bad decision of the umpire.In the second half of the ninth Navy grinded up her lions for the final effort and put forth her best efforts. Lannington led off with a ticket to first. Needham was hit by Drennon, but was caught napping by the ever watchful Hub Hart. Goldthwaite fouled out to the catcher. The crowd held its breath as Spofford faced Drennon for the last time in the ninth. The best he could do, however, was a weak grounder, which was neatly handled by Smith and Martell. Morgan, Hart, and Martell all played a pretty, clean game for Georgetown. The star for Navy was Spof-ford, whose brilliant fielding was the feature of the game.The Score.

FROM A GOOD FIELDWell Handled by Jockey Nicol, Batts Carries Off Honors at Louisville.LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 13.—Batts, an outsider in the betting, and ridden by Jockey Nicol, beat a field of the best handi-capped horses on the ground in the Clark Stakes, one of the richest turf events of the new Louisville Jockey Club's meeting.Brancas was favorite, and managed to land in third position. In the early running Early Boy rushed to the front and showed the way for the first six furlongs. Rounding the turn into the home stretch, Nicol moved up with Batts, and passing Early Boy as the two swung into the home stretch, he drew away at the end and won in a ramp. The track was deep and heavy, but despite the majority of the events furnished good contests.George C. Bennett, supposed to be the best two-year-old on the grounds,

9 to 1.BALTIMORE, May 13.—At its grounds yesterday afternoon the Baltimore and Ohio Athletic Association continued its winning streak by defeating the strong Commissioners Athletic Club, of Washington, by 9 to 1.The Baltimore and Ohio boys put up their usually strong game at the bat, and while making one hit fewer than the visitors, they were made consecutively and resulted in runs.The fielding of the visiting team was very good, although the errors they made were damaging, as were the bases on balls given by their pitchers.Titus, who pitched for Georgetown University, started to twirl for the Commissioners, but was wild, and hit hard when his meant runs. Cantwell, who replaced him in the eighth inning, gave the first three men at bat bases on balls and was replaced by Hamilton.The score:
